

THE SUPREME BENCH.

The Republican caucus of the Legislature renominated last night, Judge David Taylor, of Fond du Lac, as one of the additional justices for the Supreme Court. Several names were presented to the caucus, and on the third ballot Taylor received a majority. We notice in the report of the caucus proceedings, that Hon. J. B. Cassady, of this city, received a complimentary vote, which, however, was uncollected. Mr. Cassady declined from the first to be regarded as a candidate, and requested members from this county not to present his name as a candidate. It would have been highly gratifying to Mr. Cassady's many friends in the State, had he allowed his name to have been used in connection with the judgeship. His splendid legal attainments, his superior judicial mind, and his literary ability, would have adorned the bench and honored the State. The Bar Association met in Madison this afternoon (Wednesday) and will take some action in relation to Justiceship. It seems probable that the Association will endorse the caucus nomination.

WELLS ON THE LOUISIANA TRIBE.

It is interesting to read the letter which J. Madison Wells recently wrote to the New York Times concerning the men engaged in the conspiracy to indict and punish the members of the Returning Board. Wells is a man of unfailing courage and unaltering nerve, and does not dread the malice and hate of the men engaged in this malicious prosecution. He hasn't the fear of Judge Whitaker, or of his gang, before his eyes, and dares to tell the truth about these felons notwithstanding he is under indictment for alleged corruption in making up the returns of the Presidential election. Of Judge Whitaker, he says:

The central figure in this conspiracy, is that most supine tool of the traitors of Louisiana, Judge William R. Whitaker. He conspired to defraud the Government of the United States of $600,000, with which he was intrusted as Assistant Treasurer, succeeded in the conspiracy, and stands indicted for felony. Nine of the jurors in the Anderson trial swore that they were prejudiced against the prisoner, yet they were made to serve. Two of them had declared openly that Anderson ought to be hung. During the greater part of the trial Judge Whitaker was in a battery of intoxication.

He speaks of the man who assisted in the trial of Anderson in this complimentary manner:

Assistant Attorney General Egan is a worthy and pliant tool in the hands of the Attorney General. He stands indicted for murder in his own parish, having assassinated a brother lawyer on account of his success in practice over him.

He introduces a witness in the case in this wise:

Mr. Charles Cavaras, the important and reliable witness in this trio of villains—Whitaker, O'Brien, and Egan—is a man of bad reputation for veracity, especially where a political or personal interest is involved. Hundreds of men in this city would not believe him under oath. He holds a prominent position in the city government, although he has denounced the female teachers of the public schools as prostitutes.

Mr. Wells tells how the jury was impeached, and gives this interesting information:

The names of the jurors that were impaneled for the trial of Anderson and myself were furnished by the Democratic Committee. Their political status as well as their views as to the proper punishment was canvassed by the Judge, Attorney General and the Democratic Committee before being placed on the panel. One of the Jury Commissioners testified before the court that the list of jurors placed in the jury box from which names were drawn after exhausting the panel was furnished by the Democratic Executive Committee.

This open letter gives proof that Gov. Wells, though under indictment, dare give the country the truth regarding the men engaged in this outrageous conspiracy. It is appalling that in the United States, with all its boasted freedom, such a diabolical scheme would be permitted to be put in operation. No wonder it makes the President sick, and all honest men disgusted.

On Thursday of this week the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society will decide on the location of the State Fair for 1878. Janesville and Madison are the competing cities, and the State Journal says the Committee is prejudiced in favor of Madison and all that is necessary for that city to do to secure the fair is to subscribe $2,000. The subscription paper is being passed round, and there is no doubt that that amount can be raised. While we do not wish to appear selfish in the matter, we hardly think the best interests of the Society will be served by holding the fair in that place. Should it be located there, Janesville and Rock county will not be slack in contributing to its success.

"Bob" Ingersoll has decided to leave Peoria, and to make Washington his permanent home. He will join his brother in the practice of the law, the latter having a lucrative and a well-established business. This movement on the part of Ingersoll strikes many with surprise. In Peoria, he owns an elegant residence which cost nearly $60,000, and was in possession of a large legal practice. "Bob" can add to his already wide reputation by paying strict attention to the law, and let the hell question take care of itself.

One of the pleasantest pictures of the day is that presenting the velocity of Dr. Linderman, Director of the United States Mints, in coming down to a silver basis. He saw the handwriting on the wall sometime ago, and has been making preparations for the new coinage.—Chicago Post.

His wheeling into line was not made with greater velocity than that of the Chicago Journal on Saturday which opposed the passage of the Bland bill with a remarkable persistency.

The Mayor of Chambersburg, New Jersey, has absconded, and his whereabouts are unknown. His public accounts, he supposed were crooked, whereas since his disappearance they have been found to be straight. He was in the New Jersey Legislature and his vote elected McPherson, a Democrat, to the United States Senate. That of itself was enough to drive a sensitive man to the verge of insanity.

It is an easy matter to find fault with the management of all benevolent institutions; much more so, than to manage them satisfactorily.—State Journal.

There is no fault whatever found with any benevolent institution in the State except the State Hospitals, and the management of these is of such a character as to make fault-finding very easy and justifiable.

The bill which was introduced in the Assembly a few weeks ago making it a penal offence to practice dentistry in this State unless the person so practicing shall be a graduate of a dental college, or unless he shall have practiced in the State five consecutive years, was killed on Tuesday.

The Legislature of Louisiana is taking an interest in the case of General Anderson, and fifty-three members have signed a petition asking Governor Nichols to pardon Anderson when his sentence is pronounced by Judge Whitaker. The motion for a new trial has not been heard yet.

A report from London states on authority that there are seventy millions of people starving in the famine-stricken provinces of North China. The cable says that the imagination fails to cope with so gigantic a calamity.

The production of petroleum in the United States for 1876, reached 9,175,905 barrels, and in 1877, 13,490,171. It is remarkable that of this quantity, over 13,350,000 barrels were produced in Pennsylvania.

William Nelson, of La Crosse, formerly editor of the Republican Leader, and for the last two years United States Marshal for Utah, has resigned. The resignation is believed to be a compulsory one.

The State Senate to-day (Wednesday) adopted the resolution favoring the payment of the United States debt in gold or silver, the latter dollar to be 41½ grains. The vote stood 19 to 8.

The Assembly had a long discussion this Wednesday forenoon, on the resolution requiring biennial sessions of the Legislature. No vote was reached.

The bill now before the Legislature providing for the care of married women and their minor children, has been named the "pantaloons bill."

LATEST STATE NEWS.

The Temple of Honor at Stoughton has seventy-two members, and is but a year old.

The mother of Hon. E. W. Keyes, died at Menasha, on Monday, in the 78th year of her age.

Mrs. Kellogg, widow of Abraham Kellogg, recently deceased, was burned to death in her house near Prairie Farm, on the night of the 31st.

It is estimated that the amount of ice put up each season for consumption in the Southern States by Oshkosh firms, will aggregate 14,000 tons.

Rev. H. F. Fairbanks, the Catholic priest of Whitewater, accused of immorality, writes a lengthy letter, setting forth his innocence, apparently making a fair case.

We understand from a gentleman who is just in from the country, that in many places where the chin-chugs were plenty last year, they are thawed out and lively now. Our informant states that they are thickest in leaves and underbrush on woodlands adjacent to fields, and suggest that farmers should burn their wood lots over.—La Crosse Democrat.

A tramp entered Muscoda last Monday, requested the marshal to arrest him, take him to the calaboose and give him something to eat, or he would steal. The marshal told him to steal, then when the tramp went to a store where a rack stood at the front door loaded with dry goods, and made off with the rack, goods and all, and got away without being arrested.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

A bill introduced by Senator Eustis proposes the appropriation of $60,000 available immediately for reopening the mint and assay office at New Orleans.

Windell Phillips was on the floor of the United States Senate on Tuesday, and his conversation would seem to indicate that he has not changed his hostile opinion in regard to the Administration of Mr. Hayes. He received marked attention on all sides.

Gov. Packard left Washington Tuesday night for New Orleans, having received a dispatch announcing the death of a child. This is the second death in his family this winter. The health of Mrs. Packard has been seriously affected by these afflictions, and serious fears are entertained that she may sink under them.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations agreed to report favorably on the nomination of Bayard Taylor as Minister to Germany, and Col. Goodloe as Minister to Belgium.

Some of the radical Republicans are evidently making preparations for a break with the Administration. One of them has stated that nothing could benefit the party more than to have a row for thirty days. Possibly that row is to be precipitated in the speech which Eugene Hale, of Maine, is preparing as an arraignment of the Southern policy of the Administration.

Persons prominently identified with Louisiana politics say that Gov. Nicholls will pardon the Returning Board on consideration that the President removes the three that are now holding Federal offices, and agree not to appoint any of the Board to Federal offices in the State of Louisiana. Nichols wants to break another promise.

From an incidental discussion in the Senate Wednesday it became apparent that Senators are disposed to vote to restore the franking privilege. The subject came up on the bill from the Postoffice Committee proposing that that department can receive as well as send letters on public business free.

J. C. Cottrell, counsel for Louis Rudskopf, of Milwaukee, and Gerry Hazleton, United States District Attorney, are in Washington nominally to have the Government fix a time for the hearing of those whisky cases. It is said that an ulterior purpose is to test the Government officials upon the question of immunity for the Milwaukee Whisky Ring.

Special Dispatch to the Janesville Gazette.

MADISON, Feb. 20.—The State Bar Association is in session this afternoon, perfecting a constitution and organizing work for the season.

THE CAUCUS.

Madison, Feb. 20.—The Republican legislative caucus to nominate a candidate for addition Supreme Court Judge, was held last night. The first informal ballot resulted: Frisbie, 13; Carter, 18; Cassady, 6; Morris, 3; Taylor, 14; Cousins, 2; Windsor, 3. On the third formal ballot the vote stood: Frisbie, 1; Carter, 30; Cassady, 1; Stewart, 1; Taylor, 35. At the announcement of the vote the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. Judge David Taylor is a resident of Fond du Lac. He is about 50 years old. The Democrats will hold their caucus to-morrow evening. Among the names mentioned it will fall to either Gen. George B. Smith, the Hon. S. U. Pinney, of Madison, or James G. Jenkins, of Milwaukee.

THE DOG SHOW.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 19.—Nearly 1,000 dogs of fine breeds are on exhibition to-day at the rink, this being the opening day of the St. Louis bench show. Sportsmen and dog breeders are in attendance from all parts of the country. Col. James O. Broadhead delivered the opening address.

The award of premiums commenced on the spaniel classes. During the day Devil, a full-blooded Dachshund, belonging to Francis Leiter, of New York, died of an epileptic fit. He was one of a trio which cost $10,000.

LOUISIANA.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Eugene Hale to-day received the Returning Board prosecutors, and defended Anderson in a two-hours session in the House without awakening any more than an average interest. His remarks were significant only as with- drawing his support from the President's Southern policy, and reflecting upon the President's neglect of the Returning Board.

A controversy was awakened by Mr. Hale's remarks, but it lacked interest. The Louisiana case is a sucking orange.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 19.—John Gumbiner, accompanied by a lady, registered at the Lindell house last night. They ate supper, and were assigned to a room.

About 5 o'clock this afternoon the room was entered, and the bodies of the man and woman found lying on the bed, the woman had been shot in the left temple, and the man in the right. The pistol which had done the work was in the man's hand. The man was identified as John Gumbiner, aged 27, a bartender for Henry Lyda, a wealthy saloon keeper and brewer. The woman was Maggie Lyda, aged 19, daughter of Gumbiner's employer.

The father had forbidden marriage between the parties. The young woman was pregnant.

INVESTIGATING.

Charges of Gross Mismanagement and Cruelty in the Ohio Penitentiary

Cincinnati, Feb. 19.—The Enquirer is publishing the result of an investigation of the Ohio Penitentiary by one of its correspondents. It shows that the systems of contract of labor and the punishment imposed upon the prisoners there are very severe, and that in many instances it drives prisoners to insanity and death. Instances are quoted in which prisoners are made manacled by six months of imprisonment, and of other cases in which men are reported as having been taken from dungeons dead from excess of punishment.

There are also charges of crookedness in the financial management of affairs, and a commission of investigation has been appointed by the Legislature to enquire into the alleged abuses.

MACKAY.

San Francisco, Feb. 19.—The Legislature having failed to make an appropriation to provide for the representation of California at the Paris Exposition, J. W. Mackay, of the bonanza firm, telegraphs the committee having charge of the collection of a cabinet of minerals to represent the resources of the Pacific coast, to go ahead with the work and he will defray the expenses.

SENTENCED.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 15.—Julius C. Hass, until recently proprietor of the Hass Hotel, was sentenced to prison for one year for obtaining $500 from a widow under false pretences.

ACRITICAL.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The Agricultural Congress met this forenoon, with about 100 delegates present. Owing to the illness of President Flag, Vice-President James called the Convention to order, and read the address of the President. The Committee on Credentials being appointed, a recess was taken.

A Romantic Murder.

Pickens county, Georgia, is excited over the capture and return of a murderer who has for nearly a year, backed by a strong posse of friends, defied arrest. The story of the crime is a terrible one. About a year ago, Bob Southern married Kate Hambrick, an acknowledged belle of that section, who was dashing, impetuous and strong willed, but a general favorite. The wedded life of the young couple was for some time happy, until the bride began to show signs of jealousy at the attentions of her husband to a Miss Conroy, an old flame. This feeling culminated in a ball at Christmas, where Southern and his wife and Miss Conroy were present. Mrs. Southern's feelings were wrought up by the renewed attentions of her husband to his old flame, and she at last requested him not to dance with her any more, and made the same request of Miss Conroy, without effect. Southern took Miss Conroy as his partner for a quadrille, when his wife interferred, claiming that he had promised to dance with her, but he denied it, and repudiated her. The jealous wife then found her father and borrowed his knife. As soon as she received it she opened it, and, concealing it in her dress, re-entered the ballroom. Without any warning at all she rushed upon her supposed rival, uttering some hoarse, half-articulated sounds, and plunged the knife into her neck and throat. Of course consternation seized the guests, and, before they could interfere, Miss Conroy was fatally injured. She was fearfully hacked. Kate Southern having used the largest blade of the knife. She clung to her victim like a tiger, and seemed crazed with fury. Miss Conroy died very soon. An attempt was made to guard the door as the murderer could not escape, but her husband and his brother drew their revolvers and threatened death to anyone who should oppose them, which had the effect to give them free passage. They fled, and have succeeded up to a few days ago, by force and cunning, in avoiding arrest. But at last the fugitives were arrested at Franklin, N. C., and a large and well-armed posse surrounded their quarters and succeeded in arresting Mrs. Southern and her husband. The rest of their party, for whom there were no warrants, were discharged, and the prisoners brought back to the scene of the murder, and placed in jail.

Busby's Iron Wedding.

Busby, of Trenton, celebrated his "iron wedding" one day last week, and he invited about one hundred and twenty guests to the wedding. Of course, each person felt compelled to bring a present of some kind, and each did.

When Mr. and Mrs. Smith came they handed Busby a pair of flat-irons. When Mr. and Mrs. Jones arrived they also had a pair of flat-irons. All hands laughed at the coincidence, and there was even greater merriment when the Browns arrived with two flat-irons. But when Mr. and Mrs. Robinson came in with another pair of flat-irons the laughter became perfectly convulsive. There was, however, something less amusing about it when the Thompsons arrived with four flat-irons wrapped in brown paper. And Busby's face actually looked grave when the three Johnson girls were ushered into the parlor carrying a flat iron apiece. Each one of the succeeding sixty guests brought flat-irons, and there was no break in the continuity until old Mr. Gurdy, of Philadelphia came with a cast-iron cow-bell.

Now Busby has no earthly use for a cow-bell, and at any other time he would have treated such a present with scorn. But now he is actually grateful to Mr. Gurdy, and he was about to embrace him, when the Walsingshams came in with the new kind of double-pointed flat-iron with wooden handles. And all the rest of the guests brought the same articles, excepting Mr. Ruby, and he had him a patent for holding flat-irons.

Busby got madder and madder every minute, and by the time the company had all arrived he was nearly insane with rage, and he went up to bed, leaving his wife to entertain the guests. In the morning they counted up the spoils, and found they had 212 flat-irons, one stand and a cow-bell. And now the Busbys have got the Smiths and Browns and Jacksons and Thompsons and the rest entirely, for they are convinced that there was a preconcerted design to play a trick upon them. The fact, however, is, that the hardware store in the place had an overstock of flat-irons, and sold them at an absurdly low figure, and Busby's friends went for the cheapest thing they could find, as people always do on such occasions. Busby thinks he will not celebrate his "silver wedding." —Max Ade.

SHOPIERE.

—Mr. A. W. Lewis sold his farm last week to Mr. Minen, of the town of Bradford.

Mr. John Lathers sold a Norman two year old colt for $140, which goes to Minnesota, and Mr. Mott sold one for $125, which goes to Kansas.

MILTON.

The auction sale of dairy cows took place on Monday. The stock was shipped here from Cresco, Iowa, by a Mr. Donaghue. A large number of buyers were present, and the bidding was spirited. The whole drove of fifty were sold at an extreme range of $21.50 to $39.50, the average being about $29. Spooner, of White-water, did the talking.

The parishioners and friends of Rev. E. M. Dunn, pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, made him a donation visit at the church Monday evening. Despite the horrible condition of the roads, a goodly number from out of town were present, and a pleasant social occasion was enjoyed. The donations, taking into consideration the fact that many a man's pocketbook is moneyless just now, were liberal. In addition to an amount of funds sufficient to purchase a full set of Johnson's Encyclopedia, money and estates, aggregating twenty dollars in value were contributed.

CATARRH

NEVER-FAILING RELIEF

AFFORDED BY

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

IT is a fact that can be substantiated by the most reliable testimony, that every office of the medical profession, medicine, in every country, has, for years past, recommended the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, in every case, afford instant and permanent relief. No matter how strong the disease may be, how severe the symptoms, the following gives such evidence of its value in the treatment of CATARRH, that it is difficult to conceive of its inability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists, and patients is unanimous, and it is in point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The author of this article may justly be proud of the position this remedy has attained, and believe it worthy of its reputation.

10 YEARS A SUFFERER.

From Hon. Theo. P. Bogert, Bristol, R. I.

MESSRS. WEAVER & POTTER: Gentlemen.—Feeling thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, I am induced to drop you a line, and let you know that I have been a sufferer from all the nostrum advertisements, "radical cures." I have never found anything that promises so much, and does so little.

I have been afflicted with this dreadful disease for more than ten years, and not until recently could I find any relief. I have enclosed a copy of the letter of Mr. HENRY WELLS, and can truly say that I was using five or six bottles at a time, and convinced myself that I was getting well. Hoping that others similarly afflicted like myself would be induced to make the trial, I am sending very respectfully yours, HENRY P. BOGERT.

Bristol, R. I., July 31, 1874.

CATARRHAL AFFECTIONS,

Such as Sore Throat, Inflammation, Eye, Ulceration and Induration of the Eye; Ringing of the Nerves in the Head; Sore Throat; Elongation of the Utricle; Swelled Throat; Nervous Headache; Inflammation of the Liver; Loss of Nervous Force; Depression of Spirits, &c.

There is the tallest baby story yet. A Xenia (Ohio) widow (of how long standing is not stated) is credited with having given birth to twins, one of which was white and the other black.

A little boy took his mother to talk to him, and say something funny. "How can I?" she asked, "don't you see I am busy baking these pies?" "Well, you might say, 'Charlie, won't you have a pie?'" That would be funny for you."

A gentleman well known for his parsimonious habits, having billeted himself on his acquaintance in Edinburg during some Royal visit, was talking to a friend, on his return, of the great expense of living. "How much do you think I spent in Edinburg?" "I don't know," replied his friend; "I should suppose about a fortnight."

EMERALD GROVE.

There will be a donation party at the M. E. church and parsonage of Emerald Grove on the afternoon and evening of March 6th, for the benefit of the present pastor, Rev. W. T. Miller. All are cordially invited to attend. There will be a literary entertainment in the evening.

M. A. Vandenburg leaves for his home in Iowa this week. He goes with his team and wagon.

CLINTON.

The Clinton steam flour mill will start up again in a few days after several weeks' rest, to give the proprietors an opportunity to attend to a long and vexatious law suit.

There is to be an auction at Delavan Saturday, at which 60 cows are to be sold besides other property.

Deacon Wooster still lingers in Colorado.

—There is a new tenant in the S. F. Hammond house.

—McKee & Bros. have redeemed their pledge, and opened a store in Wyman's block.

—Weaver, Pierce & Co. are now paying $350 for hogs.

—Beautiful nickel plated alarm clocks at Covert & Cheever's store.

—The Baptist and Congregational societies hold union meetings afternoons and evenings during this week.

—After over five years of faithful service as pastor of the Baptist church in this place, the Rev. H. W. Stearns has tendered his resignation to take effect May 1st. He will enter a new field of usefulness as home missionary, a position which by nature and grace he is most eminently qualified to fill, and in which it is predicted he will be signal useful. This separation from the church will be much regretted as well as by the community at large, who have learned to love and respect him for his consistent Christian character.

—A. C. Rice has retired from the steam mill firm, and has purchased the grocery stock of O. H. Florida & Co., and has taken possession.

—Mr. Sidney Allen and Mr. Mills have formed a co-partnership, and will set up and operate a first class feed mill in the Allen elevator. Work has already commenced. As there is no feed mill in town now, it will be a great convenience to the people.

MILTON JUNCTION.

—The open session of the Temple of Honor came off, as advertised, at the M. E. church on Tuesday evening, Feb. 12th. The church was filled with a large and interested audience, who, in various ways manifested their hearty sympathy with the object and work of the Temple in our midst. The music of the evening was furnished by Mrs. R. J. Greenman, at the organ, Mrs. C. S. and Mrs. G. H. Button, B. F. Titworth and Elder Bristol accompanying. Mr. Allen, of Stoughton, was the first speaker of the evening, who spoke nearly an hour in a fervid, impassioned appeal, in behalf of the temperance work. His address was interspersed with incidents and anecdotes, and varied with frequent flights of florid rhetoric that was really interesting. Rev. Mr. Loomis followed in a short address. Mr. H. R. Hinkley read an appeal in behalf of the order. Capt. Isaac Miles made some very telling points in favor of the Temple and its work. Altogether the evening was the most interesting and profitable of any that has preceded it and will be followed by others from time to time as the moral support of our community is fairly enlisted in its favor.

—Mrs. Mattie C. Carle and daughter 1 ft. for Rockton on Thursday last on their way home to Chicago.

—The Union meetings are still in progress with a good attendance and a good degree of interest. They will continue as long as is deemed practicable.

—Mr. G. W. Shaw advertises his stock of boots and shoes, gloves and mittens to be sold at auction on Monday, February 25th. He proposes to close out his stock preparatory to retiring from the trade and moving away.

—Mr. Robert Miller has again accepted a position as traveling salesman for a sewing machine house in Milwaukee, for the coming season, and has already gone to work.

—Roads again impassable for loads and the bottom still going out.

—Uncle Joe F. Mackey is quite sick at the present writing.

—Ed. James Rogers is recovering from his late illness quite slowly.

—Mr. Holmes is still taking in oats at 20 cents per bushel.

—Elder Wardner has purchased the residence where he now lives and proposes to fit it over into a larger and more commodious one in the spring.

—Mr. David Garlock returned to his home in Iowa last week, having spent the winter thus far visiting friends here.

—The question of another cheese factory seems to begin to be talked up again among the farmers, who are generally convinced that it was a bad job letting the one go down they had. The profit of cheese

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1878.
CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

The day of daisies.
No tramps last night.
A Long Branch party next Friday night.
The valentine fever is in its secondary stage.
There are about seventy pupils in the Telegraph Institute.
One hour and ten minutes worth more of daylight than one month ago.
There was some boating indulged in to-day. One more such a day will cause a race.

Young Men's Christian Association meet to-night at half-past 7 o'clock in their rooms.

The new Academy of Music will not open to-night, but will do so next Saturday evening instead.

Will those boyish serenaders who make Main street so hideous with their yellings, ever let up?

It is well to keep vaccinated if you would keep well. The advice is good at this or any other time.

If some would let the red that is in the nose ooze down into a ribbon in the buttonhole, but they won't.

Dr. G. H. McCausey, Mr. A. W. Baldwin, and Dr. Martin are among the attendants at the annual Masonic conclave in Milwaukee.

Rev. A. Lee Royce lectures in Broadhead to-night on "Art in Christianity." The lecture is a good one, and will doubtless be appreciated.

Mr. Henry Conrad, of Conrad, Bell & Co., Chicago, has left his coffee and spice business long enough to give Janesville friends a day's visit.

The Court street Methodists socialize at J. B. Carle's next Friday evening. An enjoyable evening will result to which a general invitation is extended.

Hon. Frank Leland, lately appointed Consul at Hamilton, Ont., is in the city to-day. He says he will assume his new duties about the first of March.

There is no truth in the report that Frank Stevens intends removing his cigar box factory to Iowa. He is doing a lively business here, and does not care to change.

Orin Bemis, son of Mr. K. W. Bemis, has started for Sherman, Texas, where he expects to engage in business. May the expected harvest of prosperity be his.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Ford gave a very pleasant tea party to about fifty of their friends last evening. After partaking of a bountiful repast, the guests indulged in the merry dance.

Rev. Mr. Wallace in his lecture the other evening rapped the knuckles of some of the church folks who devise questionable methods of drawing money out of the pockets of the citizens:

A FAIR QUESTION.

To have or not to have the State fair, that is the question. It is a question too that must be decided between now and tomorrow noon, as the committee whose business it is to locate the fair are to meet in Madison to-morrow. The local committee having the charge of the subscriptions have begged and buttonholed, and tried to work up some enthusiasm on the subject, and it is to be hoped that their labor will not be in vain. About $200 is still lacking to complete the sum necessary to raise in order to secure the State fair here. There are some who are enthusiastic over the matter and who have dipped into their pockets generously. There are a few, however, who ought to give who have not given. They seem anxious to have the fair held here, and express no hesitation in resuming the pecuniary profits which always come from the business brought into the city during fair-week, and yet when approached on the subject of contributing, they close up like an oyster, and become suddenly and strangely indifferent. Madison is wearing off its finger-nails in scratching about for money enough to secure the State fair, and unless Janesville enterprise exerts itself, the city of the lakes will succeed. Now is a good time for the business men of Janesville to show what they are made of. A little exertion now will cause the work of the past to be crowned with success. Dip into your pockets, at once, so that you can rest easy to-night.

THE COMING CONCERT.

The Knights of Honor have arranged to have the Clement Bros. and A. M. Forster give a musical entertainment in this city, Wednesday evening, Feb. 20. The programme will be one of rare merit, embracing trios, duets, songs, choruses, personations of temperance, intemperance, Yankee, German and Irish characters. This trio of musical artists are very highly spoken of wherever known, and will doubtless increase their reputation by the entertainment to be given here.

The Chicago Tribune in speaking of a concert given by them says: "It was the finest treat in the way of music that it has been the good fortune of our citizens to listen to in years, and the hearty laughter and uproarious applause that greeted these artists, spoke volumes of praise and enjoyment on the part of the audience. In whatever city these gentlemen may perform, should any of the inhabitants thereof be troubled with the 'blues,' an evening spent in their company is warranted a sure cure."

The following table shows the highest elevation above the lake in each of the several townships in Rock county, the figures being gathered from the late State geological report. To find the elevation above the ocean 578 feet should be added to the number of feet given in the table:

SHUTTING UP EARLY.

The clothiers and dealers in gent's furnishing goods have banded together and solemnly pledged each other to lock and bolt their front doors, and keep out all customers after 8 o'clock each evening, except Saturdays. The following have entered into the contract: R. M. Bostwick, Echlin & Foote, J. S. Ford, O. E. Fitch, M. C. Smith & Son, and A. & F. Sonnen. The public will govern itself accordingly.

WHO STOLE A STOVE?

John Kimball, the auctioneer, is one stove out and some other fellow is one stove in. A few days ago a team drove up in front of a store where Mr. Kimball had some goods, and the driver informed the boys in charge during Mr. Kimball's absence, that he had bought a stove, and pointing it out, the boys helped him load it into his wagon. The fellow drove off quickly without exciting any suspicion of crookedness, until on Mr. Kimball's return it was found that no such sale had been made. Since then a hunt has been made for the fellow that stole the stove. One man was arrested on a warrant, but identified as one who had actually purchased and paid for the stove in his possession. He was of course the recipient of an apology, and quickly turned loose. Those who delivered the stolen stove think they can identify the person who took it, if they can only get their eyes on him, but so far he has kept out of sight. The coolness with which the job was put up made the game a successful one.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

Lippincott's Magazine for March opens with the second paper of Edward King's new series, "With the Russians in Bulgaria," to which recent events have given a special interest. It sketches the historical and political aspect of the Bulgarian question, as well as the characteristics of the people and the country, and is embellished with numerous and well-executed engravings. Prof. James A. Harrison's concluding paper on "Sweden" forms the second illustrated article, and will be found entertaining. The author of the "Reminiscence of the First Iron-Clad Fight," published in the last number, contributes an account of the capture of Fort Fisher, which he saw from the mast-head of the Ironsides, afterwards visiting the scene of action, and noting many details of a striking or pathetic character. "The Strange Story of Paul Scarpon," by Edwin De Leon, "Europe's Coal Field," by David Kerr, and "Small Fare and Comedy," by Mary Dean, will all repay perusal. "Without Inscraption," by a German author, gives a vivid and touching picture of Jewish life in East

At 7 o'clock this morning the thermometer stood at 35 degrees above and at 1 o'clock at 51 degrees above. "Clear. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours of the day the thermometer indicated 18 degrees and 45 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, falling followed by rising barometer, warm south-easterly shifting to colder north-westerly winds, generally stormy weather and frequent rains, partly turning into snow.

Light snow is reported over the wires at Duluth, Cheyenne, Alpens, and Detroit, and light rain at Denver and Toledo, and Chicago.

THE WEATHER.

To have or not to have the State fair, that is the question. It is a question too that must be decided between now and tomorrow noon, as the committee whose business it is to locate the fair are to meet in Madison to-morrow. Dr. Price differs from most traveling physicians in that he has a regular established route, visiting chosen points regularly for years. The fact that he has made his visits for fifteen years, demonstrates that he is not a professional renegade or quack, but that he is worthy of the confidence of those suffering from the chronic disease which he makes a specialty.

Those with diseases of the liver, heart, lungs etc., lose nothing in consulting Dr. Price. On his next visit Dr. Price will be for consultation, at the Myers house, only on Monday, until 2 o'clock, the 2d of March. All who desire to see him should call in the early part of the day.
